September is

National Suicide Prevention Month

Suicide is one of the leading causes of death in the United States. Older adults tend to have higher rates of suicide for a number of reasons including depression, loss of a loved one, physical and cognitive decline, lack of social interaction and financial troubles.

In 2022, among the nearly 49,449 suicides that took place in the US, 10,433 were attributed to people age 65 and up.

If you or someone you know is displaying some of the signs of suicide listed below, you can call 988 for the Suicide & Crisis Lifeline

- Loss of interest in activities they used to enjoy
- Giving away beloved items or changing Wills
- Avoiding social activities
- Neglecting self-care, medical care & grooming
- Exhibiting a preoccupation with death
- Lacking concern for personal Safety.

Remember, Ask the questions, Be there, Keep them safe, Help them connect and Follow up. "While the person who completes suicide, dies once. Those left behind die a thousand deaths, reliving the moment and trying to figure out Why."
